Indiana Kappa Gets New Faculty Advisor

On November 17, 2007 the men of Phi Delta Theta initiated their new faculty advisor Dr. James Stroud. Dr. Stroud currently holds the position of department chair of Elementary Education. He holds a doctorate in Elementary/Early Childhood Education and Child Psychology. The role of faculty advisor brings "full circle" a dream Dr. Stroud has had for many years. He pursued Greek Life while an undergraduate at Indiana State University, but due to circumstances beyond his control he was unable to become a brother at that time. After coming to Ball State he eventually reached out to the active chapter and inquired about becoming the faculty advisor. With his love for the Greek community and desire to serve the local chapter, the brothers of Indiana Kappa saw it fit to initiate him into the brotherhood that he was to lead and advise. . He is active in the chapter and assists the Scholarship Chairperson in working with the brothers to attain the GPA required. He enjoys hanging out the brothers and attending social events of the chapter. Dr. Stroud has a passion to make Phi Delta Theta the best fraternity on campus and is committed to all the brothers. His office is always open to the men of Phi Delta Theta. You can contact him at jstroud@bsu.edu, by phone 765.285.8564, or through the postal mail at
